

Day 4: Thursday, 10 August, 2017
9:00	Plenary 4: Jeff Siegel (University of New England) Acquisition and dialect change: An overview (Room 1, Chair: Yoshiyuki Asahi)
10:00	Coffee Break
	Dialect contact 4 (Room 1, Chair: Cindi Sturtz Sreetharan)	Attitude (Room2, Chair: Dennis Preston)	Variables (Room 3: Chair: Mie Hiramoto)	Workshop 3: Beyond the well-known: current foci and issues in research on intensification (Room 4, Organizer: Susanne Wagner)
10:30	Sociolinguistic Representation of Code choice and Code-Switching in a Japanese TV Drama Ichiro Ota	Measuring language attitudes in context: exploring the possibilities of the P-IAT. A case study on regional varieties of Dutch in Belgium Laura Rosseel, Dirk Geeraerts and Dirk Speelman	Accommodation and Social Networks: Grammatical Variation among Expatriate English Speakers Keiko Hirano and David Britain	Beyond adjectives - So going to in the SOAP corpus Ulrike Stange
11:00	The interplay between explicit awareness and individual speakers' attitude in dialect contact Xuan Wang	The role of attitudes in the innovation and spread of Multicultural London English Susan Fox and Ruth Kircher	"They're not proud of the fact that they're not from here": Acquiring Northern Irish English as linguistic camouflage Karen Corrigan	Modelling intensification in New Zealand English data Martin Schweinberger
11:30	On the emergence of contact varieties: the Spanish of Mallorca from a historical perspective Andres Enrique-Arias	Local bilingualism and global connectedness: New Montrealers' language attitudes and repertoires Jakob Leimgruber	Sociolinguistic variables and internal constraints from a listener perspective Tyler Kendall and Charlotte Vaughn	Beyond the intensifier: the importance of 2-grams in adjective intensification Susanne Wagner and Ulrike Stange
12:00	The definite article in Frisian and neighbouring dialects from an areal and contact perspective Stephen Laker	Perceptual Dialectology in Japanese-English video game translations James Major	Ethnicity and morphosyntactic variation: Indexing identity in San Francisco Chinatown Adina Staicov	Discussion
12:30	Lunch Business Meeting (Conference room 2)

	Dialect Innovation 3 (Room 1, Chair: Karen Corrigan)	Language Change 1 (Room 2, Chair: Fumio Inoue)	Dialect resource (Room 3, Chair: Charlotte Gooskens)	Workshop 4: Contrastive Geolinguistics (Room 4, Organizer: Takuichiro Onishi)
13:30	Constructing a new linguistic self: Stylistic variation in a second dialect Yuhan Lin	The state of dialect usage and transmission in Iheya Salvatore Carlino	Participatory Cultural Lexicography Innovating a dialectal dictionary by applying an Open innovation in science approach. The example of exploreAT! Amelie Dorn and Caitlin Gura	Introduction Ray Iwata
14:00	Who's "urban" in Newfoundland? Gerard Van Herk and Ismar Muhic	Principal reasons for the formation of language differences in Minyag Ganzi (Sichuan, China) Fnu Dawazhuoma	Making a tagged dialect corpus using a computer: Verbal conjugation can be automated Motoei Sawaki, Chitsuko Fukushima and Yumi Nakajima	Reconsideration of blending change Takuichiro Onishi
14:30	Between process and product: regional reduction strategies in German 'standard-in-use'-varieties Matthias Hahn	An analysis of Japanese honorific usage succession at home through Mixed Methods Research Kazuko Tanabe	The structure of diversified language usage in metropolitan Tokyo: Analyses using large-scale data base for word accent Harumi Mitsui, Kanetaka Yarimizu and Motoei Sawaki	Dialect distribution and topography Akihiko Shibahara
15:00	Coffee Break
	Methods 3 (Room 1, Chair: Kuniyoshi Kataoka)	Corpus-based studies and beyond 2 (Room 2 Chair: Sali Tagliamonte)	Language change 2 (Room 3, Chair: Susanne Wagner)	Workshop 4: Contrastive Geolinguistics (Room 4, Organizer: Takuichiro Onishi)
15:30	Unilateral Correspondence Analysis: Applied to Spanish linguistic data in space and time Hiroto Ueda	Corpus based study of Japanese dialects: Regional differences in case marking system Nobuko Kibe, Kumiko Sato, Taro Nakanishi and Kohei Nakazawa	Changing nature of idiolects in the light of Bayesian analysis Niina Kunnas and Liisa Mustanoja	Item-based contrastive map: Potato in French, Chinese and Japanese Yuji Kawaguchi, Ray Iwata and Seiichi Nakai
16:00	The roleplaying variety of Northern Norwegian preschool children Bror-Magnus Strand	Pazeh-Kaxabu Affinity Revisited: from a corpus-based approach Chihkai Lin	Apparant variation in non-restrictive relative clauses in the Middle Low German dialects Melissa Farasyn
16:30	Token-based Vector Space Models as semantic control for lectometric research in lexical variation Stefano De Pascale and Stefania Marzo	Cloud Computing, Open Science, Data Analytics Towards new research paradigms for Bavarian dialectology in using advanced research infrastructures. DARIAH-Competence center in a nutshell Eveline Wandl-Vogt, Amelie Dorn, Roberto Barbera and Davor Davidovic	Recent diachronic change in the use of the Present Perfect and Past Tense in Philippine and Indian English Ariane Borlongan and Robert Fuchs
17:00
18:00	Conference Dinner (Tachikawa Palace Hotel)			